

Bayesian belief network revealing whether there is a causal relationship between search volume of data and economy related topics & keywords

The answer is no, there is no such relationship; only the time determines observed search volumes

